

AANIIN

(HELLO)

My name is Ella Tulloch Chiblow and when I grow up, I want to be an Ojibway teacher. I want to be an Ojibway teacher because I want to teach others the language and history of my culture. I also want to teach that specific subject because there are not very many out there and I have a very good teacher so maybe that is why I want to teach the language.

My mom and dad also had a big influence on what I want to be. My mom is a teacher and a guidance counselor and my dad is Ojibway.

After high school I want to go to Nippising University in North Bay. I want to go there because my mom and dad went there. These are all the reasons why I want to be an Ojibway teacher!
